

Surveying and Recording Govan War Memorial

FREE EVENT!

Come along and join Scotland's Urban Past at Govan War Memorial for a free day of learning about surveying and recording buildings.

- Learn about the architectural style and history of the memorial
- Try your hand at producing a scale drawing
- Record the memorial through photography
- Learn about the basic principles of archaeological survey.
- Contribute your findings to the National Record of the Historic Environment

MONDAY 30TH OCTOBER 2017

10am-12pm and 2pm-4pm

Meet at Govan War Memorial, Govan Road, beside the Pearce Institute at the entrance to Govan Old Church at 10am.

No previous experience is necessary to participate and all necessary equipment will be provided by the Scotland's Urban Past team.

Places are limited so phone 0141 274 3411 or email bryony.robinson@glasgow.gov.uk by Friday 27th October to reserve a place.